THE AUN HALF YEAR REPORT
24 July 2017 - 31 January 2018
Dear Colleagues

Our first Half-Year Report is a documentary of activities from 24 July 2017 – 31 January 2018.

The details of this report are in line with our current Strategic Focus (5 areas). In the past 6 months, the AUN Secretariat would not have been able to deliver tangible outputs if it had not been because of the commitments and extra help from member universities, associate members and partners.

We are continually opening our new routes for more results and successful collaboration in the other half of the year.

Choltis Dhirathiti, Ph.D.
AUN Executive Director
AUN Strategic Focus 2017-2021

S1 Advancement in Curriculum and Learning Approaches

S2 Quality Enhancement with AUN-QA

S3 Students’ Skill Enhancement, Cross-border Exposure and Experience

S4 Research and Academic Collaboration

S5 University Networking Platforms
Advancement in Curriculum and Learning Approaches
The Second General Meeting involved a pilot group of universities to validate and confirm the list of competences from the stakeholders’ consultations both in General and Specific, to further develop tuning meta-profiles in three subject areas.

Subject areas: Civil Engineering, Medicine, Teacher Education

Participations:
- 6 Universities from AUN 30
- 7 Universities from AUN-Thematic-Networks
- 11 Universities from non-AUN
- 6 European universities and institution, as well as invited participants from UKM, UPM and UUM.

Countries: Spain, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Italy, Portugal, Cambodia, Indonesia, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Thailand, Viet Nam
Designing a Degree Programme that is of High Quality, Relevance and Recognition: “Learning by Doing”

Tuned Asia-South East

The First Regional Tuning Project in the South East Asia Region > The project aims to apply the Tuning Methodology in the whole cycle of degree implementation from curriculum design to teaching and learning evaluation.
Tuning: A New Strategy for Modernising Higher Education Degree Programmes
More than 4,700 respondents to the survey, stakeholders in the consultation process included graduates, employees, academic and students.

Dr. Edurne Bartolome, Tuning Academy, presented the survey results from the consultation process.

A reference point to design degree Programme

Validated and Confirmed of 13 TA-SE Generic Competences and 14 specific competences of TA-SE engineering, 14 specific competences of TA-SE medicines, and 28 specific competences of TA-SE Education
Tuning approach is a peer and stakeholder review through the consultation process in order to derive the desirable Meta-Profiles of 3 study degree programme namely Civil Engineering, Medicine and Teacher Education.

HOW TUNING WORKS TO CREATE DEGREE PROFILE

1. Degree profile start with inputting the context:
   it’s the professional and social needs at the local-regional or national level for which it is built (incl. employers needs, industrial demand, etc.)

2. Top up with university’s strength (Vision, Mission)

3. Gain recognition by linking it with meta-profile
   3.1 in the degree profile, it consists of generic competences
   3.2 Tuning cross check the profile consistency by linking and/or ensures relationship between generic competences with Meta-profile

4. Then you will get degree profile to Establish the programme

5. Programme will need to be checked
   For consistency (both at the unit level and at The programme level)

6. Quality control/Enhancement
   6.1 How to carry out feedback gathering? From whom (alumni, employers, teacher evaluation, etc.)?
   6.2 How to analyse feedback
   6.3 How to turn the analysed feedback to be areas for improvement
   6.4 How to implement and monitor areas for improvement
Using Tuning approach to design a Degree Programme

DESCRIPTION of the DEGREE PROFILE of the programme

Generic Competence
Problem Solving

1. Identify and analyse a problem to generate alternative solutions, applying methods learned
2. Use own experience and criteria to analyse the causes of a problem and construct a more efficient, effective solution
3. Propose and construct solutions to problems in different fields, with an overall view

DESIGNING THE PROGRAM
Civil Engineering SAG
BILBAO - 16-18th January 2018
Tuning: The Methodology for designing, planning, and Implementing curricula

- Outcomes based focusing on graduate competences
- Compiling meta-profile verified by various stakeholders
- Shift of paradigm: moving from a staff oriented approach to a student centered approach
- Translating social needs into programme/module/course learning outcomes
- Real implementation at the faculty level couple with training supports

“How to roll out the knowledge expertise, skills, and techniques, of this methodology to the Universities in our region”
Tuning projects are powerful instruments for promoting understanding and cooperation between institutions, countries and regions across the world. Organized by and for universities, they focus on developing culturally inclusive student-centred and competence-based learning.

Tuning projects offer academics in all disciplines a common language to discuss teaching, learning and assessment collegially and - to reiterate - involving all those concerned.

Quality Enhancement with AUN-QA
There were a total of 17 AUN-QA Programme Assessments with 56 programmes and 1 Institutional Assessment being assessed.

Programme Assessments

The AUN-QA Programme Assessment was initiated in 2007. Its goal is to provide and support continuous improvement for study/degree programme in order to achieve better quality of teaching and learning to meet quality standard.
AUN-QA PROGRAMME ASSESSMENT

1. Submit self-assessment report (SAR) to AUN-QA Secretariat and assessors

2. On-site Visit
   - 2.1 Facilities Visit
   - 2.2 Interview
     - 2.2.1 Key Faculty Members, Head of Study Programme, Administrative Staff, and SAR Team
     - 2.2.2 Academic Staff
     - 2.2.3 Support Staff
     - 2.2.4 Students
     - 2.2.5 Employers
     - 2.2.6 Alumni

3. Clarification with Head of Study Programme and SAR Team

4. Preliminary Result Presentation

5. Assessor team continues with final report and submit final report to AUN-QA Secretariat

6. AUN-QA Secretariat verifies integrity of report and submit the report to University for feedback

7. University receives report and feedback form. Feedback form is to be completed by assessed programme and submit back to AUN-QA Secretariat

8. Feedback is submitted to Assessor and Assessor confirms that there will be no alterations to the report after receiving feedback

9. Assessment report and certificate(s) are issued to University

AUN-QA Tier 1 Training: The AUN-QA Training Course for Accomplishing Programme Assessment is a training course which aims to introduce the AUN-QA System. The course features guidelines of how to write the Self-Assessment report and also the process of the AUN-QA Programme Assessment. The course is suitable for professionals who are in-charge of Quality Assurance at their Universities, especially in the ASEAN Region.

AUN-QA Tier 2 Training: The Assessors training workshop for AUN-QA Programme Assessment (Tier2), is a coaching course suitable for professionals who have passed Tier 1 training and wish to be trained as assessor for accomplishing AUN-QA Programme Assessment.

Coming Soon!

China-AUN Scholarship (Chinese Government Scholarship AUN Programme) is a full scholarship established by Ministry of Education, People's Republic of China, for citizens of ASEAN member countries to pursue their further study in China.

This scholarship supports master’s students for no more than 3 academic years or doctoral students for no more than 4 academic years by providing a full scholarship which covers, tuition waiver, accommodation, stipend, and comprehensive medical insurance.

The call for application for academic year 2018 is expected to be announced by February. Please follow up on the announcement on www.aunsec.org or www.csc.edu.cn/laihua.
Discovery, Diversity, Dynamics (3Ds) is also known as the “Summer School” for undergraduate students from six Japanese national universities—Chiba University, Kanazawa University, Kumamoto University, Nagasaki University, Niigata University and Okayama University.

This two-week programme offers students a unique opportunity to learn and experience ASEAN by exploring its diversity and earning in-depth knowledge in various aspects through the lectures, on-site exposures, cultural workshops and organisation visits.

“FAFL Orientation”

Congratulatory Remarks by AUN Executive Director

Welcome batch 2017
Arrival Orientation

DJU Campus Tour
In the 2017 forum, delegates were exposed to a variety of Indonesian cultural heritage, intellects and arts in the city of Yogyakarta. Moreover, the cultural exhibitions and street performances by the participating countries enabled the delegates to actively and directly learn from one another. Finally, networking among the delegates also promoted a long-term people-to-people linkage among the delegates.

The Forum Components

ASEAN and ASEAN +3
Youth Cultural Forum
ACADEMIC

The Academic Talk will be delivered by an artist or an expert in culture and related fields as designed by the host university. The talk should reflect the theme and highlight the crucial role of the youth in promoting and sustaining the cultural heritages.

CULTURAL PERFORMANCE

The cultural performances are the showcase of the student delegates who have talent in all kinds of art forms which are absolutely rich in its diversity as each ASEAN country owns various arts and cultures. The performances range from music, songs and dances which are presented by all delegates. Each participating country is requested to prepare a cultural performance and synopsis prior to the forum. Moreover, the public audience are expected in order to maximise the understanding and appreciation of respective cultures.
Consolidating Workshop

After the delegates share and learn the diverse cultures of other participating countries, the host university will conduct a workshop on their national masterpiece with different rooms for practice based on participants’ expertise. With prior knowledge and backgrounds, plus new experiences from the workshop, delegates will consolidate a collaborative performance as a new initiative for the Closing ceremony. This also portrays the unity of all the young talents who join the forum.

Cultural Exposures

The events expose participants to a variety of cultural exchanges by offering hand-on experiences and learning activities, as well as an exposure to the host country’s places which bear the outstanding historical or cultural significance. On the other hand, the locals of the host country also embrace the diversity of other countries through cross-cultural dialogues and the showpiece of artifacts, religious beliefs, ways of life and pop cultures.

What is AUN/SEED-Net?
AUN/SEED-Net was officially established from the initiative derived at the ASEAN-Japan Summit as a framework towards sustainable development after the economic crisis that struck the Asian region in 1997. Full operation of AUN/SEED-Net Project started in 2003 with the main support from the Japanese Government through Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), Member Institutions, and Member Governments. The network of AUN/SEED-Net comprises 26 leading Member Institutions in engineering from 10 ASEAN countries with academic support from 14 leading Japanese supporting universities. AUN/SEED-Net Project has witnessed and contributed to the development of human resources in the ASEAN region as well as strengthening collaboration between the Member Institutions.

7th ASEAN+3 Heads of International Relations Meeting

Theme
The meeting aimed to reflect the concerns of students both from the university and outside the university. Inbound and outbound safety is of paramount importance.

- Minimize risks in the areas of health, accident, natural disaster and human-made disaster.
- Risk is something very difficult to understand.
- Risk can be possibility and probability but even probability is difficult to understand.
- Risk and safety are very complex concerns.

Quoted from Welcome Remarks by

Fr. Jose T. Villarin, S.J.
President, Ateneo de Manila University
ROLES OF AUN in the Student Mobility Crisis Management

“AUN as an information centre for member universities

“AUN has a direct responsibility to facilitate and answer all questions regarding risk of students studying abroad

Crises
A time of intense difficulty, trouble, or danger.

Student Mobility Security Advisory System (Types of Crises)
The types of crises can be categorized based on the severity and level of response needed

[Diagram showing types of crises with levels of severity and response]

Introduction=

- Any crises faced by students studying abroad need to be handled appropriately.
- The types of crises can be divided based on severity and response needed.
- The member universities have established international student mobility management platforms for their students.
- More higher education institutions have developed comprehensive policies on international student safety management, such as the AP and Fulbright.
- A result of increasing international students mobility, it is becoming more important to have a crisis and conflict management process.
- The management team has identified and prioritized for each crisis.
- A crisis plan and process can be seen from the United States, Australia, Canada, and Japan.
Activities:

1.5 day meeting for participants to share case studies and good practices on crisis and safety management for student mobility in their respective universities.

The Small Group break-out sessions aimed to share and learn about crises management experiences involving international exchange students by working on cases assigned to each group, as well as the action learning and sharing on their case submissions.
“The participants were all working hard, thinking hard on how their university could respond to the crisis situation.”
Two plenary sessions aimed at finding common ground and the recommendations are to be compiled in the general framework on risk management in order to share their in-depth experience of each study.
I. Case and Nature of Case Presented

- Serious illness leading to the decease of the student
- Student from Somalia suffered from a serious illness; Student passed away after a month.

II. Common Response Plans

- IRO tried to find any contact of his family or friends and unfortunately there was not even a consular office of his country in Indonesia.
- IRO collaborated with other parties from the Police department and the immigration to contract the UNHCR to take care of his body.
- We failed to contact anybody from his country (family, relatives or friends).
Case Study II: Traffic Incidents by ITB

I. Case and Nature of Case Presented:

- An Afghanistan student had an accident. It resulted in a serious injury.
- Problem: Student should have insurance but student spent the money on other things.
- Cost was almost 9,000 USD and he could not pay.

II. Common Response Plans

🌟 Those experiences lead ITB to develop some policies

- Health: Accident and life insurance, emergency contact is now compulsory
- ITB will strongly recommend living in the university dormitory at least for the first semester.
- Student orientation is held every beginning of the semester, and several cultural introduction sessions and activities are held, so the students can adapt to local way of life faster.
- IRO provides social media networking
- IRO develops and maintains inter-institution networking
Case Study III: International Exchange Student Crisis Management Xiamen University

I. Case and Nature of Case Presented:
- International exchange student fell down when walking on campus
- The Student stayed in dormitory for two days, then worsened.

II. Common Response Plans
- Reported to the college to ask for help
- Sent to community hospital
- Suffering from neurological disorder
- University transferred to city hospital
- Diagnosis - intensive care unit and treatment

Presented by Prof. TAN Shaobin, Assistant President for International Affairs, Xiamen University
Case Study: The Disaster and the Political Distress by Kyoto University

Suvarnabhumi Airport closure on 26 November 2008

- Outbound and inbound students must reschedule their flight
  Tohoku Earthquake and Tsunami in 2011
- Confirming safety of students and faculty
- Providing necessities for students

Presented by Prof. Mamoru Kanzaki,
Chairman, International Exchange Committee of the Faculty of Agriculture, Kyoto University
The student was undertaking internship in Ankara, a private company, she was alone in the house, a lot of protest and political unrest, electricity was down.

On August 1, 2016 - termination of internship, and arrived safely August 13, 2016.
The last 60 minutes of the discussion focused on finding the common ground and moving forward. The session was co-chaired by Fr. Jose M Cruz, Vice-President, Ateneo de Manila University and Dr. Choltis Dhirathiti, AUN Executive Director.
Expected output from this session was the gathering of institutional responsibility on how to move on agreeing on the questions and institutional responsibility on the 2 questions:

1. To what extent is the university responsible for international students? Do we have a responsibility beyond what we have for our regular students? Who is directly responsible for this task?

2. Can we establish in AUN PLus three a common platform for risk management? Who will manage this platform?
