ASEAN UNIVERSITY NETWORK

Foreword

On behalf of the Chairman of the AUN Board of Trustees, I am very much proud to present to you the premier summary of the ASEAN University Network's year of accomplishments from January 2009-June 2010 in our annual report.

Our success resulted from significant contributions of many individuals and member universities. I wish to express my deepest gratitude to our colleagues for the invaluable support given to the AUN over the years. I would also like to express my sincere thanks to the AUN Board Members for their constructive and dynamic contributions. Particularly, I wish to thank the AUN Secretariat and its staff for their extraordinary commitment and dedication to the AUN that have borne the fruit of the great success as can be seen in this publication.

I am confident that you will enjoy reading and learning about numerous programmes and activities that we coordinated and implemented from 2009 to 2010.

Dr. Sumate Yamnoon
Secretary-General, Office of the Higher Education Commission
Ministry of Education, Thailand, and Chairman of the AUN Board of Trustees

Introduction

The last year held great promise to our sheer effort in pushing the higher education development in the region to the new era. I, on behalf of the AUN Executive Director, would like to present to you this AUN Annual Report 2009 highlighting the relevance of our work and the critical importance of AUN agenda. Since its inauguration in 1995, AUN has been the implementing agency assuming the active position as ASEAN Sectoral Ministerial Body in ASEAN Charter. We are accredited the key role responsibilities in higher education development of ASEAN.

During the recent development in the past year, we have observed the profound and significant expansion in terms of both qualitative and quantitative factors. The tangible and concrete results can be defined by the substantial increase in the amount of project initiatives inclusive in this report and structural expansion of dialogue partners. In terms of quantitative factors, AUN and AUN Secretariat, since July 2009, have applied the strategic planning to indicate and pin point a more focused and solidified direction of the maneuvering.

On behalf of the AUN Secretariat, the notable improvements include the major changes of the Secretariat to become proactive, the improvements on the project management skill and brainstorming skill of the AUN's Programme Officers. In addition, the AUN Secretariat has revised and developed the workshop technology to implement the more dynamic outcomes and outputs to increase active participations and inclusivity. Our Secretariat will also continue to improve our Human Resource Development.

This Report outlines how AUN is focusing its support in the six Key Result Areas (KRA) which are 1) Academic Exchange Programme, 2) Cultural and Non-academic Exchange Programme, 3) Training, 4) System and Mechanism of Higher Education, 5) Programme and Course Development, and 6) Dialogue or the Exchange of Ideas and Views.

From this moment and the year onward, we have visualized the path that we would take. We will continue to further the implementation of the existing Projects and Initiatives. However, we would put a special focus on 5 different areas: 1) Quality Assurance, 2) Student Mobility including the ASEAN Credit Transfer System (ACTS region-wide implementation), 3) University Social Responsibility and Sustainability (USR & S), 4) Intellectual Property Education and 5) Information and knowledge Centre. Moreover, we have strong intention to explore the activities in respect to the Collaborative Research that directly involves AUN Member Universities' experts. We also aim to provide support to the sub network and thematic network.

Through these areas of academic development and cooperation implementing through successive activities, AUN remains committed to supporting Member Universities in their efforts to help build a better communion of regional higher education.

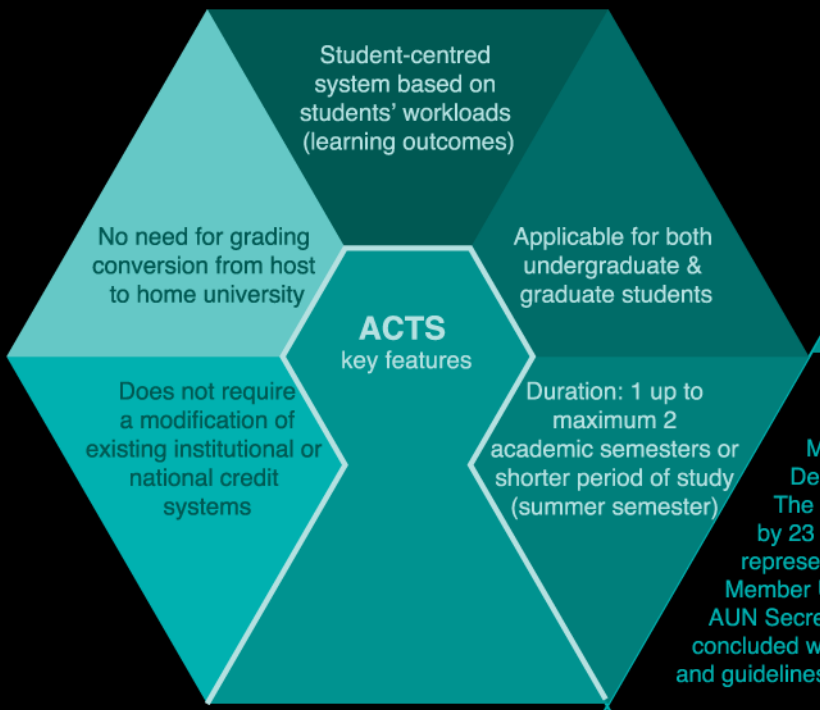
The Implementation of ASEAN Credit Transfer System (ACTS):

ACTS Student First
light up your future

The difference between the various credit systems in ASEAN is considered as one of the main obstacles to the mobility and exchange of students within the region. By considering this factor, the AUN has developed and proposed the ASEAN Credit Transfer System (ACTS), a common credit transfer mechanism, to assist in facilitating and promoting academic mobility by focusing students' interests as a core of the process.

During 2009-2010, the AUN Secretariat in collaboration with AUN Member Universities organised a series of AUN-ACTS Steering Committee Meetings.



The 1st AUN-ACTS Steering Committee was held on 25-26 March 2009, hosted by De La Salle University. The Meeting was attended by 23 Steering Committees, representatives from AUN Member Universities and the AUN Secretariat. The Meeting concluded with the concept paper and guidelines for ACTS.

The 2nd AUN-ACTS Steering Committee was held on 19-20 January 2010. The Meeting was hosted by Vietnam National University-Ho Chi Minh City. The Meeting was attended by 30 Steering Committees, representatives from AUN Member Universities, the AUN-ACTS Secretariat and AUN Secretariat. The Meeting agreed to apply the ACTS mechanism to the AUN Student Exchange Programme and requested AUN Member Universities for its full scholarship contribution to the programme.

The ACTS is targeted to be implemented among 22 AUN Member Universities by 2010 and ultimately, the ACTS scheme will be fully applied throughout the ASEAN after its integration in 2015.

Programme/Course Development
ASEAN Studies Curriculum Design Workshop

In recognition of the growing awareness of ASEAN as a politically and economically important region, the East-West Center (EWC), Hawaii expressed its interests to foster a greater appreciation of regional commonalities and cooperation between ASEAN and U.S. by promoting ASEAN identity, integration of ASEAN and mutual understanding between two regions through education.

With the support from the East-West Center (EWC), Hawaii and the Asia-Europe Institute (AEI), University of Malaya, the ASEAN Studies Curriculum Design Workshop was organised in Kuala Lumpur on 3-5 September 2009.

The experts in ASEAN studies and related fields from 8 ASEAN countries namely, Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Lao PDR, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, Viet Nam and the representatives from the ASEAN Seccretariat, the AUN Secretariat and East-West Center (EWC), Hawaii attended the workshop in order to share the experiences and knowledge and draw the structure of the ASEAN Studies Curriculum for the undergraduate level.

1st AUN Human Rights Education Network (AUN-HREN)

Building Human Rights Culture through AUN-HREN

The ratification of ASEAN Charter would not only promote the regional integration but also put the focus on strengthening the democracy, good governance and promotion of human rights and fundamental freedoms for ASEAN people. Considering the critical of human rights situation in the region, it is an essential need for ASEAN to support the initiative and promote human rights education and human rights studies within the region.

To achieve it, the AUN Secretariat with the support from the Center for Human Rights Studies and Social Development, Mahidol University, as a focal point of the network, collaborated to set up the AUN Human Rights Education Network (AUN-HREN). On 18-19 February 2010, the First Meeting of AUN-HREN was organised by the Center for Human Rights Studies and Social Development, Mahidol University. The Meeting was attended by 18 participants who have expertise on human rights and related areas, and the representatives from the AUN Secretariat and Raoul Wallenberg Institute, Sweden. The Meeting concluded with the AUN-HREN plan of activities 2010 and network's prioritised activities which focus on data accumulation, web-based resources, exchange programme, joint lecture and to develop ASEAN Human Rights teaching material.

AUN Sub-networks' Activities

AUN Sub-networks operate and manage autonomously under the AUN scheme. Having their own secretariat, AUN Sub-networks are responsible for specific projects and areas. Each network has to report its annual activities to the AUN Board of Trustees for acknowledgement. Five sub-networks under AUN are:

- AUN Southeast Asia Engineering Education Development Network (AUN/SEED-Net)
- ASEAN Graduated Business and Economics Programme(AGBEP) Network
- AUN Human Rights Education Network (AUN HREN)
- AUN Inter-Library Online (AUNILO)
- AUN Intellectual Property Network (AUNIP)

AUN Southeast Asia Engineering Education Development Network (AUN/SEED-Net)

Secretariat: Faculty of Engineering, Chulalongkorn Universtity, Thailand
Roles: This sub-network, mainly supported by the government of Japan through the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) and partially supported by ASEAN Foundation, focuses on promoting human resources development in engineering in ASEAN through academic collaboration between 19 leading Member Institutions from ASEAN and 11 leading Japanese Supporting Universities. The key activities are the exchange of students, faculty members and knowledge through various activities including Scholarship for Master Degree Programmes, PhD Sandwich Programmes, Japanese Professors Dispatch, Collaborative Research, Short-term Visits and Regional Conferences. To date, AUN/SEED-Net has the proven achievement in accordance with its key objective as illustrated in the significant number of graduates in all of its programmes which are 352 graduates in total.

-On 6 November 2009, The 16th Steering Committee Meeting was convened in Hanoi, Vietnam. The main focuses of the Meeting were to review the activities of Phase II and to prepare for the groundwork for the network's future in Phase III after March 2013. In this regard, the 20-year plan of the network (March 2003-March 2023) was presented and carefully deliberated by AUN/SEED-Net stakeholders to make a decision for the forthcoming steps of the network. The resolution for the future framework is expected to be concluded by next year.

AUN HREN

AUN Inter-Library Online (AUNILO)

Secretariat: University Sains Malaysia Library, Malaysia
Roles: This sub-network focuses on utilisation ICT in education through the information networking programmes. This includes establishment and development of online information exchange system within Member Universities. Various initiatives to enhance information sharing and dissemination have been launched since AUNILO's official establishment in 2003.

- The 6th AUNILO Committee Meeting was held during 7-9 April 2010 in Jakarta hosted by Universitas Indonesia with the theme entitled "Building Portal, Bridging Nations". Reflecting the Meeting theme, the main focus was to establish the Portal as the main system for information and materials sharing among member institutions.

- The Meeting concluded that all member institutions agree to share the contents of their Institutional Repositories (IRs) subject to the legislation of their country as well as terms and level of access as decided by their parent institution. Survey of availability of IRs will be conducted in all member institutions. The Meeting also concurred that compiling a bibliography on a topic of common interest to be conducted with the minimum level of access to bibliographic record and abstract of items. In overseeing the inception of AUNILO Portal, all member institutions will pool financial support for continuous enhancement and maintenance of the Portal.

AUN Intellectual Property Network (AUNIP)

Secretariat: Chulalongkorn University Intellectual Property Institute (CUIPI)

Role: The network on IP was established as a sub-network of the AUN named as "the ASEAN University Network Intellectual Property Network" or "AUNIP".

- With the support from the ECAPII and Chulalongkorn University, the AUN organised the "ECAPII/AUN Regional Conference on IP Education and Networking" on 28-30 May 2007. Scholars from 12 AUN member universities; namely, the Universiti Brunei Darussalam, Gadjah Mada University, University of Indonesian, National University of Laos, University of Malaya, Universiti Sains Malaysia, University of the Philippines, Nanayang Technological University, Chulalongkorn University, Burapha University, Mahidol University and Vietnam National University-Ho Chi Minh City attended the Conference. As a result of the ECAPII/AUN Regional Conference on IP Education and Networking organised in Bangkok in May 2007, the representatives agreed that network and partnership on IP should be established in the ASEAN region. Hence, the network on IP was established as a sub-network of the AUN named as "the ASEAN University Network Intellectual Property Network" or "AUNIP".

- The AUNIP comprises 19 members of the AUN and shall enlarge at a later stage upon agreement of existing members. The AUNIP has main responsibility of enhancing IP knowledge in the region through the organisation of workshops/conferences and establishing relationship with other IP networks. It has been agreed that the AUNIP Meeting will be organised annually so that scheme of IP education would be developed.

- The establishment of the AUNIP came into effect through the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) on 30 May 2007. The AUNIP's main objectives are:

- To enhance IP knowledge in the ASEAN region;
- To raise the quality of IP education and research in the ASEAN region;
- To assist both AUN and non-AUN Member Universities in developing IP curriculum and teaching materials for courses offered to law and non-law students; and
- To organize innovative and high quality conferences and research seminars on significant contemporary IP developments.

- The 2nd AUNIP Board Meeting was hosted by the University of Malaya (UM) on 14 January 2009 at Hilton Petaling Jaya Hotel, Kuala Lumpur. The Meeting was attended by the AUNIP Board Members and representatives from Universiti Brunei Darussalam, the National University of Laos, the University of Malaya, Universiti Sains Malaysia, De La Salle University, Ateneo de Manila University, the National University of Singapore, Nanyang Technological University, Chulalongkorn University, Mahidol University, AUN and AUNIP Secretariats.
